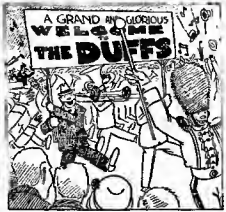
"The Duffs" are Welcomed Home Again With Enthusiasm



OUR DEAR FRIENDS: MY GOOD WIFE IS COMPLETELY OVERCOME AND I FIND IT DIFFICULT TO SPEAK TO YOU BECAUSE OF MY EMOTION OVER THIS MOST WONDERFULLY KIND RECEPTION. IT IS NEEDLESS TO SAY THAT WE THANK YOU MOST WARMLY AND—ETC.
YEA TOM LOOK!

Tom and Helen Duff, with Danny and Betty Jane and Olivia and Wilbur and Doris, and even Pansy, are coming back to the Press!

The Duffs and their doings were real folks to the readers of the Riverside Daily Press during the years that they graced the pages of the paper. Their joys and disappointments, their pleasures and differences of opinion, were eagerly followed by hundreds of readers.

And now they are coming back.

After the death of W. R. Allman, who created the strip, the rights to the feature belonged to Mrs. Allman. In response to many urgings she has adopted the plan of having W. O. FitzGerald draw the doings of the famous family, which will be released through the United Feature syndicate.

FitzGerald has studied the characters, fairly lived with them, and knows them as other people know members of their families and friends. He will continue to depict the many sides of life as it is shown by this typical, regular American family.

The Duffs are due back to Riverside Monday evening, January 26.

Look for them on the sports page.

REMEMBER OLIVIA?

SHE'S COMING BACK, TOO, WITH TOM AND HELEN DUFF
